

Dear Faculty and Staff

The holiday season and New Year is upon us and while it may not include our usual celebrations and large gatherings, it is the year to appreciate the little things and spread kindness however we can. As our holiday break approaches, I can't help but reflect as I look out the window to a very serene campus. This year we have been faced with many challenges and this semester has been tough. But it brings a smile to my face to realize our entire campus has worked together (HARD) and we have conquered the year! Some days were particularly frustrating and challenging, others were rewarding and successful. However, the individual days ended, I can wholeheartly say, the year was a success and that is because of YOU.

I appreciate every single staff and faculty member for helping to achieve what, back in March, felt like the unachievable. In true Aradian fashion, you put your "nose to the grindstone" and did what was necessary. Chipping in where needed, most often outside of your regular duties.

I would like to personally thank you, wish you and Your Family Very Happy, Healthy and Successful New Year 2021 and Subsequent Years!

I look forward to seeing you on Monday, January 04, 2021!
